

MAAC Television Schedule

The Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference and its basketball programs will provide its fans with all of the exciting, fast paced action of MAAC Basketball right in their very own homes.

The MAAC will be televising eight men's basketball games on ESPNU, a multi-media college sports initiative including a new 24-hour television network that launched March 4, 2005.

Additionally, ESPN2 will air a single regular season MAAC game with Siena College at Marist College on Saturday, February 24, 2007. The 2007 Bank of America MAAC Men's Basketball Championship title game will also be carried live on ESPN2 on Monday, March 5 at 9:00 p.m.

The MSG Network will once again be the primary carrier for the Pepsi MAAC Basketball Game of the Week. MSG will carry six regular season men's games as well as the men's first round, quarterfinal and semifinal games of the 2007 Bank of America MAAC Basketball Championship at the Arena at Harbor Yard in Bridgeport, Connecticut.

The MAAC will also televise three regular season women's basketball contests on ESPNU and two regular season women's basketball games on the MSG Network. MSG will also televise the women's quarterfinals, semifinals and championship game of the 2007 Bank of America MAAC Women's Basketball Championship.

The schedule starts off on Friday, January 5, as the Marist men's basketball program hosts Rider University for a game on ESPNU.

Siena will then host the first men's and women's basketball television doubleheader on Friday, January 19. The Saints' women's program will face Canisius College in the first game at 4:30 p.m., followed by the Siena men taking on Fairfield University at 7:00 p.m. Both games will be broadcasted on ESPNU.

ESPNU will broadcast two more men's and women's basketball doubleheaders this season. On Friday, January 26, Fairfield hosts a twin bill, featuring the Fairfield women versus Niagara University at 4:30 p.m., and the Fairfield men's team against Saint Peter's College at 7:00 p.m.

Iona College's Hynes Athletics Center is the locale for the final ESPNU doubleheader on Friday, February 23. The Iona women will take on Marist at 4:30 p.m., while the Gaels, the defending MAAC Champions, will face Saint Peter's at 7:00 p.m.

The Pepsi MAAC Television Network will also host a pair of men's and women's basketball doubleheaders. On Monday, January 29, Saint Peter's College's Yanitelli Center will feature the Peahens against Manhattan College at 5:00 p.m., and the Peacocks versus Rider at 8:00 p.m.

Reitz Arena, home of the Loyola Greyhounds, will be the site of the Pepsi MAAC Television Network doubleheader on Sunday, February 11. The Loyola women will play Rider at 12:00 p.m., followed by the Loyola men against Fairfield at 4:00 p.m.

Furthermore, MAAC teams will be in television action all season long during non-conference play. Highlighting the long list of those matchups is the opening round of the Old Spice Classic at Walt Disney World's Wide World of Sports Complex, as Marist takes the University of Minnesota for a 2:00 p.m. game live on ESPN2. Several other local, regional and/or national games are currently being finalized for both conference and non-conference games.
